PLYMOUTH MAN INDICTED ON MOTOR VEHICLE HOMICIDE CHARGES IN DEATH OF ELDERLY WOMAN WALKING HER DOG

BROCKTON – Plymouth County District Attorney Timothy J. Cruz has announced that a Plymouth man was indicted today on charges he struck and killed an elderly woman out walking her dog.

A Plymouth County Grand Jury returned indictments today against Timothy LaPierre (DOB: 6/12/75) of Plymouth. LaPierre was indicted on one count each of Motor Vehicle Homicide by Negligent Operation, Leaving the Scene of an Accident with Personal Injury and Death and Leaving the Scene of Property Damage.

Today's indictments allege that on March 12th, LaPierre struck and killed 70-year-old Marjorie Cochrane while she was out walking her dog in the area of Lunn's Way and Garrett Place in Plymouth. LaPierre allegedly left the scene and kept driving to work.

A witness reported seeing a gray Chevy truck at the time of the accident and Plymouth Police responded to LaPierre's home where they located his gray Silverado pickup truck with front end damage consistent with a vehicle involved in an accident.

LaPierre will be arraigned at a later date in Brockton Superior Court.

The case was investigated by Plymouth Police Department and is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Amanda Fowle.
